Lot 522. Immortals Zeus (Luke Evans) Rock & Chain A lot of extremely realistic screen used prop rocks, chains and rebar used for the scene where Zeus (Luke Evans) implodes a mountain on top of the Titans. The pieces are custom made from hard foam and plastic. The faux rebar with bloody chain is imbedded in partially gold colored foam rocks which look incredible. (Rebar with imbedded rocks 32" & 34". Solo rebar 30". Individual rocks 12" x 9" x 8", 13" x 12" x 7"). Oversized item. Additional postage required. ($600-$800)

Lot 523. Immortals Theseus (Henry Cavill) Spear - Theseus (Henry Cavill) screen used, hero, long wooden spear. This large size spear is constructed from light brown wood and has a decorated metal tip. (measures approx. 6 3/4' long). Oversized item. Additional postage required. ($100-$300)

Lot 527. Immortals Heraklion Soldier Knife & Sheath - A screen used prop knife from one of the Heraklion Soldiers. The sword/knife is constructed from hard plastic and painted silver, with thin finger grooves and decorated, ball tip. The sheath is also covered with a patterned design and has a small chain looped through it. (measures approx. 16" long) ($200-$400)

Lot 528. Immortals Hoplite Soldier Costume - Screen worn, complete Hoplite Soldier costume. The costume is made utilizing silver-painted leather, with ties at the shoulders and sides and leather frays at the bottom. Custom made chest and back plates feature a silver leather lower back plate and two silver plastic wrist armor cuffs with ties. Blue cape with leather ties at the neck and two silver ties on the side leg armor made from rubber and leather. The custom made battle helmet is made from silver painted hard plastic and detailed, with visor on the front, leather side cheek pieces and foam padding inside. A blue Mohawk on the top completes the look. (measures approx. 19" long) Also comes with battle 'skirt' with clips on the side. Condition may vary slightly. Oversized item. Additional postage required. ($300-$500)

Lot 529. Immortals Shield - A screen used large metal shield from 2011's Immortals. The shield is made from a thin, pounded metal with a circular design on front and patterned edge. Reverse side has handle and faux leather arm sleeve for actor to hold shield. This shield was used in a "beauty" shot, likely held by Theseus or a Hoplite soldier. (measures approx. 25 1/2" diameter) Oversized item. Additional postage required. ($300-$500)

Lot 530. Immortals Heraklion Soldier Costume - Screen worn Heraklion Soldier costume from 2011's Immortals. The helmet features a leather designed face mask and headpiece that hangs over the shoulders. Also comes with two leather forearm cuffs, a pair of leather pants and belt, and a pair of leather and faux fur sandals. Oversized item. Additional postage required. ($300-$500)

Lot 532. The Big Lebowski Jeffrey/ The Dude (Jeff Bridges) Costume

- This costume was worn by the character "Jeffrey Lebowski" (AKA "The Dude") portrayed by actor Jeff Bridges in the Coen brothers' cult film "The Big Lebowski". The outfit consists of a pair of Size 48 Long off-white cotton overalls with cutoff sleeves and a pair of Size 11 black leather work boots with Vibram soles. The "tear away" coveralls were modified with hidden Velcro along the inseams to allow the rigging from the wires and harness to be mobile while filming.

The actor wore this costume in the "Gutterballs" dream sequence when "The Dude" has a bowling themed fantasy featuring various characters from the film. The boots were worn at the very beginning of the dance sequence before Lebowski is fitted with a pair of golden bowling shoes. The coveralls were worn during the scene where "The Dude" appears to float down a bowling lane beneath the skirts of several "Gutterballs" female dancers wearing bowling pin headdresses.

This original screen used costume was one of a limited number created for the production and is a true signature piece from "The Big Lebowski". Since its release in 1998, the film has attained immense "Cult" status, spawning fan clubs and websites around the globe. While successful at the box office, the movie's ongoing popularity was an unexpected surprise to both the Coen brothers, and also signaled a sort of "comeback" for star Jeff Bridges.

The original costumer's tags are attached to both the coveralls and the shoes listing actor name, character name, film title, and assorted production notes. The costume is in hand distressed condition as seen in the film and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity. ($5,000-$8,000)

Lot 533. Back to the Future Part II Poster Signed by Drew Struzan - Rolled poster for Back to the Future Part II (1989), signed by artist Drew Struzan. ($100-$300)

Lot 534. Back to The Future III Revolver - This is a prop revolver used during the filming of Robert Zemeckis' 1990 film 'Back To the Future Part III.' The pistol was used by background actors and is made from steel, with a wooden handle. The trigger mechanisms are still moveable. Comes with a letter of provenance. (measures approx. 10 1/2" long) ($50-$100)

Lot 535. Back to the Future Part II Gray's Sports Almanac Cover - This is an authentic 'Gray's Sports Almanac' cover from the Robert Zemeckis 1989 Sci-fi film 'Back to the Future - Part II' starring Michael J. Fox, one of the most beloved film anthologies ever produced. The Sports Almanac was the key prop from the second film, as it was the reason Marty McFly and Doc Brown (Christopher Lloyd) ended up in a parallel 1985 universe where Hill Valley has been turned into a war zone. The Almanac is prominently featured throughout the film, especially in Marty's attempts to retrieve it from young Biff (Thomas F. Wilson) at the 'Enchantment Under the Sea' dance in order to put the universe back on track. An iconic prop from this film. For key props in any film, several copies are made for safety and filming reasons. This is an actual back-up production made and used cover that was not bound to the printed pages. Comes with a Certificate of Authenticity. (measures approx. 6" x 8 3/4") ($8,000-$10,000)

Lot 536. Back to the Future Part II Pepsi Bottle - From one of the most beloved film anthologies ever produced, this is a prop Pepsi bottle from the Robert Zemeckis 1989 Sci-fi film 'Back to the Future - Part II.' After traveling to the year 2015, Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) attempts to dissuade his other self from taking part in a robbery and ventures into a futuristic diner where he orders a Pepsi Perfect, which miraculously pops up from the middle of a table. The bottle is made from hard plastic resin which is colored to resemble the soda, with a non-removable blue plastic lid. The bottle has a small hole drilled into the base, where it would have been fastened to the table for its push to the surface. One of the more memorable props from the film, it comes with a letter of authenticity stating the provenance in receiving the piece. (measures approx. 8 1/2" tall). ($4,000-$6,000)

Lot 537. Keanu Reeves Bram Stoker's Dracula Shirt - Screen worn white period shirt for Keanu Reeves as Jonathan Harker in Bram Stoker's Dracula (1992). Reeves' initials, KR, are printed on the inside costume label along with an Oct. 1991 date. Complete with a certificate of authenticity. ($1,100-$1,500)

Lot 538. The Crow Brandon Lee Shirt - This black shirt was worn by the character "Eric Draven," portrayed by actor Brandon Lee, in the 1994 cult film, "The Crow." The shirt was custom made for the actor and is constructed of a black moleskin material. A blue neoprene strap was sewn onto the bottom of the shirt to help keep the garment pulled down and tight during filming.

The actor appeared wearing this shirt in numerous scenes throughout the film. "The Crow" won the MTV Movie Award for Best Movie Song by the Stone Temple Pilots, and Brandon Lee was received a posthumous nomination for Best Actor at the 1995 MTV Movie Awards after his untimely passing that occurred during filming.

The garment is in good screen used condition and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house.

($3,000-$5,000)

Lot 539. Russell Crowe Cinderella Man Boxing Shorts & Shirt - These boxing shorts were worn by the character "James J. Braddock," portrayed by actor Russell Crowe, in the 2005 motion picture, "Cinderella Man." The blue cotton boxing shorts have the original Everlast label sewn into the front center of the shorts and includes a white sleeveless practice shirt with "Maple Leafs" printed across the front.

Mr. Crowe can be seen wearing the shorts during the fight against #2 heavyweight contender, Corn Griffin (Art Binkowski). Because he sold all his boxing gear during his retirement working as a longshoreman, Braddock had to borrow everything for his fight against Griffin. The practice shirt was worn by Mr. Crowe every time while training right before a scene. He considered it his "lucky charm" shirt and would not wear any other shirt to practice before the scene. "Cinderella Man," starring Russell Crowe, Renee Zellweger, and Paul Giamatti, was nominated for three Academy Awards and two Golden Globe awards.

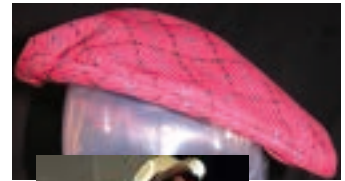

The shorts are in very good screen worn condition and the shirt is in good production use condition with some distress due to extensive boxing training. Accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($3,000-$4,700)

Lot 540. Joe Jeanette Cinderella Man Cornerman Sweater - This boxing sweater was worn by the character "Joe Jeanette," portrayed by actor Ron Canada, in the 2005 motion picture, "Cinderella Man." The navy wool sweater has the name "James J. Braddock" embroidered on the back and has the original "Broadway Knitting Millsing" label sewn on the inside with the name "Joe Jeanette" handwritten in black ink.

Mr. Canada can be seen wearing the sweater as the Braddock's cornerman during the heavyweight championship fight against Max Baer (Craig Bierko). "Cinderella Man," starring Russell Crowe, Renee Zellweger, and Paul Giamatti, was nominated for three Academy Awards and two Golden Globe awards. Joe Jeanette is considered one of the best African-American heavyweight boxers of the early 20th century. Upon retiring, he became a trainer and owned a boxing gym in New Jersey where eventually he trained Braddock.

The sweater is in very good screen worn condition and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($300-$500)

Lot 541. Dick Tracy Hat - Dick Tracy prop hat worn by "The Kid" - The 1990 Warren Beatty film Dick Tracy, co- starred a young Charlie Korsmo as "The Kid". This hat was worn extensively through out the film by Charlie. ($100-$200)

Lot 542. Warren Beatty Signature Hat from Dick Tracy - This bright yellow felt hat with black ribbon hat band was used by the character "Dick Tracy," portrayed by actor Warren Beatty, in the 1990 motion picture, "Dick Tracy." The interior of the hat has maker's label stamped inside reading "Golden Coach, Dobbs, Genuine Fur Felt". The hat has been hand distressed with fake bullet holes for use in an action sequence and is the signature style "Dick Tracy" hat Mr. Beatty wore throughout the entire film.

This hat was used in the sequence where Tracy arrives at the South Side Warehouse owned by Big Boy Caprice (Al Pacino) after getting a tip off to his radio watch from Bugs Bailey (Michael J. Pollard). When Tracy arrives at the warehouse he finds the two villains "Pruneface" (R.G. Armstrong) and "Influence" (Henry Silva) preparing to encase Bailey in a crate of concrete to drop in the river. Tracy tricks the two mobsters by propping his signature yellow hat and coat up behind a crate for the villains to shoot at while he sneaks around the side to save Bugs. After the two mobsters open fire they discover Tracy's ruse and the coat and hat with screen-matched bullet holes are clearly seen.

"Dick Tracy" was directed by Warren Beatty and featured a truly all-star cast including such actors/actresses as James Caan, Kathy Bates, Dick Van Dyke, and Charles Durning. The film won multiple Oscars in 1991 for Best Art Direction-Set Decoration, Best Makeup, and Best Music, Original Song as well as receiving numerous other nominations for Costume Design, Best Cinematography, Best Sound, and one to Al Pacino for Best Actor in a Supporting Role.

The hat is in hand distressed condition as seen in the film and is accompanied by a signed letter of authenticity from the Property Master who worked on the production. ($2,200-$2,800)

Lot 543. Dick Tracy Warren Beatty Signed Newspaper This "Daily Paper" prop newspaper was created for and used in the 1990 motion picture "Dick Tracy" featuring an all star cast including Warren

Beatty, Dustin Hoffman, Al Pacino, James Caan, Madonna, and many more. This prop document was acquired directly from one of the property masters that worked on the film and had it personally signed by Mr. Warren Beatty, who not only portrayed Dick Tracy in the film but also directed the feature. The headline on the paper reads "Dick Tracy Arrested For Murder of D.A. Fletcher - - Evidence of Blackmail - - No Bail Set" and Mr. Beatty's inscription to the prop master reads "Rudy, don't believe everything you read. Warren. P.S. Many thanks."

The paper was screen used in the production and this version was seen in multiple scenes from the film, once during an early "Hot Off The Presses" montage, again in a significant scene where the character "Big Boy Caprice" (portrayed by Al Pacino) reads the paper in his office pleased with Tracy's arrest, and in a later scene on a table underneath the arm of "The Kid" (portrayed by Charlie Corsmo), who is clearly despondent at the arrest of his role model.

The prop document is in good screen used condition and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity. ($400-$500)

Lot 544. Nicholas Elia Helmet from Speed Racer - This helmet was worn by the character "Young Speed Racer," portrayed by actor Nicholas Elia, in the 2008 live action film, "Speed Racer." The white helmet with red stripes is constructed of carbon fiber. The helmet can be seen at the start of the film when young Speed Racer is riding his pint-sized racer around the park and crashed into a brush after seeing young Trixie (Ariel Winter). As a child Speed idolized his record-setting older brother, Rex Racer (Scott Porter), who joined a corporate racing team and who was killed while racing in the Casa Cristo 5000, an intense cross-country racing rally notorious for rough and foul play. The helmet is in excellent screen worn condition and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($500-$750)

Lot 545. Speed Racer Kawarimoto #33 Racing Helmet - This helmet was worn by a background race car driver in the 2008 live action film, "Speed Racer." The black helmet is designed to look like a chalkboard with various notations and writing. This helmet can be seen at the starting line of Casa Cristo 5000, an intense cross-country racing rally notorious for rough and foul play. Many of the drivers are bribed by fixer Crunch Block (John Benfield) to stop Speed Racer and Team Togokahn from winning the race. The helmet is in very good screen worn condition and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($300-$400)

Lot 546. Speed Racer Maneck's Novelties #89 Helmet - This helmet was worn by a background race car driver in the 2008 live action film, "Speed Racer." The helmet is designed to look like a cowboy hat with a gold star stitched front and center. This helmet can be seen during the race in Fiji where Royalton (Roger Allam) has the race fixed and get the Mach 6 racer driven by Speed Racer (Emile Hirsch) to crash out of competition. The helmet is in very good screen worn condition and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($300-$400)

Lot 547. Die Hard 2 Police Badge & Cap Device
 - This badge and cap device set were worn by one of the background Dulles Airport Police characters in the 1990 motion picture, “Die Hard 2: Die Harder,” starring Bruce Willis. The badge and cap device are constructed of gold plated metal with “Dulles Washington,” “Police,” and “Port Authority” stickers.

Multiple Airport Police background characters appeared wearing these badge and cap device sets throughout the film. “Die Hard 2” revolved around the efforts of “Police Lt. John McClane” (Bruce Willis) to foil a plot by a rogue mercenary group that take over the communications at Dulles International Airport. One of these badge and cap device sets is first seen notably in the opening sequence when McClane has his car ticketed and towed by a member of the Airport Police for leaving it parked in a loading zone.

The cap and badge device are in good screen used condition with some peeling and wear on the applied stickers and are accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the property master who worked on the film. ($250-$350)

Lot 549. Two Stills from Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me - Two original black and white stills from Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me (1999). (8” x10” each) ($50-$100)

Lot 550. Austin Powers Psychedelic Phone - From the Mike Myers retro film series ‘Austin Powers,’ this is a vintage push button background desk telephone that has been decorated in multi-colored, 60’s psychedelic artwork. The phone appears to be hand painted with a red handset cord. Definitely groovy baby. (measures approx. 9” x 8” x 4 1/2”) ($50-$150)

Lot 548. Sons of the Desert Stamped Fez - This red printed fez was worn by a background character in the 1933 comedy, “Sons of the Desert,” starring Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy. The fez is constructed of maroon felt with gold paint design featuring the “Sons of the Desert” lodge logo on the front, and the top of the fez used to be adorned with a cloth tassel (later removed or lost).

The film follows the antics of Laurel and Hardy who tell their wives back home that they’re going to Hawaii for some doctor prescribed rest but actually go to Chicago to attend a Sons of the Desert event with their lodge brothers. The boys get caught in their deception when the ship they supposedly were returning home on sinks, and their attempts at maintaining the lie ends with hilarious consequences. There were multiple lodge member characters seen throughout the film and most of them wore fezzes with hand painted logos on the front rather than embroidered fezzes, which were used exclusively for featured characters that appeared in close up shots. A painted fez worn by a woman can be seen clearly in a montage shot at the beginning of the lodge convention sequence.

In an interesting side note, this style of stamped fez was also sold as an advance promotional item for the film for the low 1933 price of only 35 cents, and may have actually been the same fezzes worn by the numerous background lodge members during filming. Also offered were sashes and “Application For Membership” to the fictitious lodge from which the film takes its title.

The fez is in good screen used condition with some minor loss and cracking of yellow paint due to age. Accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($1,000-$1,400)

Lot 551. Austin Powers: International Man Of Mystery Phone - From the 1997 Mike Myers film 'Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery,' this is a prop background vintage gold, silver and white plastic rotary desk top telephone. The phone is all original and dated on the bottom 'Feb. 77.' (measures approx. 9" x 10 1/2" x 8") ($50-$125)

Lot 552. Mike Meyers Austin Powers Fur Boots - These fur boots were worn by both of the characters "Austin Powers" (Mike Myers) and "Felicity Shagwell" (Heather Graham) in "Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me." The knee high boots are covered in long white faux fur and have rubber soles.

Both characters wore these boots notably during the musical montage sequence when Austin and Felicity both go shopping and dress up in a variety of different costumes and try on each other's outfits. "Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me" was the second film in the immensely popular Austin Powers franchise. The movie was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Makeup in 2000. Mike Myers won a Blockbuster Entertainment Award for Favorite Villain for his character "Dr. Evil", and Heather Graham won the award for Favorite Actress (Comedy) for her performance in the film.

The boots are in very good screen used condition and are accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($1,200-$1,600)

Lot 553. Hugh Laurie's Hero Cane from House - This is one of the prop walking canes used by actor Hugh Laurie from the long running Fox TV drama series 'House.' (2004-2012). The cane features trademark flame art on the base and is signed 'Best!! Hugh Laurie XXX' in silver ink along the shaft. Cane comes with a COA signed by Geoffrey Colo, publicity & clearance coordinator, and one of the producers on the show. (measures approx. 36 1/2" long) Oversized item. Additional postage required. ($2,000-$3,000)

Lot 554. Keifer

Sutherland Life Cast -

This is a plaster life-cast face mold of actor Keifer Sutherland. Life casts are made, usually by make-up artists, so that any appliances that might be used on the actor during filming will fit exactly on the actor's face.

Initials 'DR' are carved in the plaster on the reverse. Has a small metal hook for display. (measures approx. 12"x 6 1/2"x 5 1/2") ($100-$300)

Lot 555. Keifer Sutherland Sunglasses from 24 Seasons

5-8 - This pair of black frame "Serengeti" sunglasses with amber tinted lenses was worn by the character "Jack Bauer" portrayed by Kiefer Sutherland in the iconic television series "24". Jack Bauer first appears wearing this style of sunglasses at the beginning of "Day 5: 7:00am - 8:00am" (Season 5, Episode 1) during the scene where Bauer learns that President Palmer (Dennis Haysbert) has been assassinated and decides to come out of hiding after faking his death at the end of the previous season. Jack grabs his gun, puts on his old trademark wristwatch, and a pair of these sun glasses, symbolically indicating that he's officially "back" in action. Bauer later appears wearing these glasses at different points throughout the end of the entire series. There were only a very limited number of these sunglasses that were all screen used during the latter half of the series, and many were damaged or lost over the course of production, making this an extremely rare piece of Jack Bauer signature memorabilia. Apart from their use in the series and possible use in assorted promotional images for the show, the actor may also be seen wearing these style glasses in the book "24: Behind The Scenes". Also included is black leather carrying case, not used on screen. The glasses are in good screen used condition. ($2,000-$2,300)

Lot 556. Keifer Sutherland CTU Badge from 24 - This gold "Counter Terrorist Unit" (CTU) badge was worn by the character "Jack Bauer" portrayed by Kiefer Sutherland in the iconic television series "24". The gold colored badge or "shield" with eagle motif at the top has engraved blue lettering reading "Counter Terrorist Unit" and round "CTU" logo in the center. The badge is mounted on leather backing with metallic chain at the top for wearing around the neck. This particular badge is one of a limited series of "Hero" badges that were all worn onscreen by the Jack Bauer character during different episodes throughout the first six seasons of the show. In the plot lines following Season Six, Bauer's CTU Los Angeles office is disbanded and absorbed by the Department of Homeland Security and Jack ends up working for the FBI in Season Seven. By Season Eight Jack is transferred to CTU New York but no longer appeared wearing this style badge, making this a rare signature Jack Bauer collectible from the series. Apart from its use in the series, the actor may also be seen wearing this style badge in the book "24: Behind The Scenes". The badge and leather backing are in good screen worn condition with some minor evidence of wear from their use on the show. COA from the property master who oversaw the props use during production. ($2,000-$2,600)

Lot 557. Gladiator Praetorian Horse Bridle - From the 2000 Ridley Scott adventure-epic Gladiator, starring Russell Crowe and Joaquin Phoenix. This is a horse bridle likely used by one of the Praetorian soldiers riding on horseback, and is fashioned from brown leather. ($200-$400)

Lot 558. First Knight Shield -

This medieval prop shield was used by a one of the “Knights of Camelot” background characters in the motion picture, “First Knight.” The prop shield was custom made for use the film and is constructed of fiberglass that was hand painted silver and shaded with black paint by the film’s prop department to create an aged look. These shields were used in several scenes of the film, most notably during the climactic night-time battle sequence when King Arthur (Sean Connery) leads his Knights of Camelot into battle to fight against the evil barbarian hordes lead by his foe Prince Malagnant (Ben Cross). The shield is in excellent screen used condition and is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from the costume house. ($250-$450)
